The review covered every payment made during the year and found that most were supported by a signed form, as set out in the following section

The next section describes the payments that lacked a signed form and the steps taken to find the missing records.